1:15pm A time to remember Bruce Kennedy and honor his memory and his family
1:45pm Q & A and closing

Why: Come praise God and remember the milestones He has brought us through together!

1. Dedication of the first 27,000 sq ft of the Quest R&D facility was October 16, 2002.
2. Our now famous yellow prototype first flew October 16, 2004 and now has over 1,000 hrs.
3. On October 13, 2005 we dedicated our enlarged 84,000 sq ft Kodiak production factory.
4. We received the coveted FAA Type Certificate on May 30, 2007.
5. Production has begun with over 3 years of commercial sales orders in hand.
6. Fifteen missionary organizations have 52 Kodiaks on order with many more to follow.
7. God has faithfully supplied our every financial and technical need through you, our Quest Family
For all this and to express our profound appreciation to you, we want to praise God together!

Who: You, our wonderful supporting Quest family, and your friends are invited to come and participate in this amazing and crucial endeavor that will expand God's Kingdom world-wide and mission-wide for decades to come. We want to celebrate and honor God together with you whose faithfulness to the calling has made it possible.

Please let us know if you're coming ASAP with an RSVP to Dave Voetmann

Bruce Kennedy's legacy still serves the cause of Quest and missions. Alaska Airlines wants to honor Bruce with a matching grant.

This picture was published in the August issue of Alaska Airlines' magazine. Mr. Bill Ayer, Alaska's Chairman and CEO dedicated several pages to Bruce and his leadership at Alaska Airlines as CEO and his more recent leadership as the Quest Aircraft Board Chairman. In the article Mr. Ayer stated that; - "Alaska Air Group is matching contributions from its employees, retirees and the public in Bruce Kennedy's memory to go toward the purchase of a Quest Aircraft for a humanitarian organization. If you would like to make a donation, send a check payable to NCCF/Quest Aircraft Memorial Fund (with "Bruce Kennedy Memorial Fund" in the memo line) to: Northwest Christian Community Foundation, 7730 S.W. 31st Avenue, Portland, OR 97219."

We would encourage you to be part of this Bruce Kennedy legacy with a Memorial Gift to our NCCF account. NCCF will provide tax receipts.

Sincerely in Christ,
David L. Voetmann
